

Diffractive Survival Probabilities

Uri Maor

Recent calculations of soft scattering in exceedingly high energies are summarized with special emphasize on the role of unitarity and the consequent survival probabilities of hard diffractive LRG processes. Updated models are compared aiming to assess the role of Pomeron enhanced diagrams. Survival probabilities for exclusive central diffractive Higgs LHC production are quoted.